.. From Mr. Cartwright's lists of merchants for 1800 & 1801 already referred to, it appears that Mr.
Robins was one of their number. Shipping for himself & his son, he in the former year sent down to Montreal a considerable quantity of flour, potash & pork. In 1794 he prayed for lot No. 2, nearest the property he already had, for a store & wharf

On July 12, 1796, Sarah Robins, presumably his wife, was recommended for 200 acres, "if not

James Robins, Sr., was refused on Dec. 19,
1809, the point of land opposite the Kingston
Brewery, it being described "as not grantable" (U.C. Land Book B, p. 90). This, presumably, is the brewery mentioned as "Robbins Brewery" in Robertson's History of Freemasonry in Canada, p. 576.

James Robins, Jr., of the Town of Kingston, Gentleman, was granted a Town lot in Kingston on June 18, 1811 (U.C. Land Book I,

James was listed as surety for David Brass

Memorial of James Robins

Inducted a number of men for service and joined Gen. Burgoyne's Army with them in 1777 & was appointed Captain in Lt. Col. Jessup's Corps. He mustered at different periods between 40-50 men in the company under his command.

Suffered considerable loss. Soon after joining, being on a scout with Major Jessup was unfortunately taken prisoner 28th Sept. by the rebel Indians. After being severely punished by them, was ransomed from <sup>them</sup> to save him from immediate death, which ransom your petitioner was obliged to pay during his captivity by the assistance of his friends, with other debts he was obliged to contract, for his & his family's support, to the amount of near £150 sterling.

When in prison he expected to be exchanged. At last all hopes of that vanished. After 8 months close imprisonment he was obliged to seek for bail to obtain his liberty. Was then sent prisoner to Quebec for 9 months. After leaving Quebec he solicited an exchange from Canada to New York by all opportunities possible but was disappointed. Tried to get leave from his bail to escape. At last obtained his consent, but having no guide to Canada did endeavor to get to the King's Army in that Province but in its attempt was made prisoner a considerable time at Poughkeepsie. At last did make his escape to New York.

Prays for back pay.

Personal Notes.

William Robins.

William Robins was town clerk at one time, and his records are among the most systematic and best written of any of the township. The Robins family, according to the Government record, appear to have been quite numerous, but none located at Adolphustown at first; some in Kingston, Ernesttown and the Eastern District. They were of the loyal Rangers during the war. He is said to have kept the first store in the township, on the bay shore front of the village, where the wharf is now located, and one lot east of Hagerman's. He does not appear to have remained long in the township, and none of the ~~name~~ have resided there for fifty years or more. Few remember the name at all now.

Robins.

James Robins. From Mr. Cantlin's list of merchants for 1800 and 1801 already referred to, it appears that Mr. Robins was one of their number. Shipping for himself and his son, he in the former year sent down to Montreal a considerable quantity of flour, potatoes, and pork. In 1794 he prayed for lot No. 2, nearest the property he already had, for a wharf and store.

On July 12, 1796, Sarah Robins, presumably his wife, was recommended for 200 acres, "if not granted before" (U.C. Land Book B, p. 90). James Robins, Sr., was refused, on December 19, 1809, the point of land opposite the Kingston Brewery, it being described "as not grantable" (U.C. Land Book B, p. 90). This presumably is the brewery mentioned as "Robins's Brewery" in Robertson's History of Greenway in Canada, p. 576.

James Robins, Jr., of the Town of Kingston, Gentlemen, was granted a town lot in Kingston on June 18, 1811 (U.C. Land Book I, p. 89).

In the parish accounts for 1802 it appears that the makers of the note (to pay off widemen) were Mr. Stewart, James Robins, and John Kirby.

James Robins (U.C. State Book D, pp. 410-3) was a surety for David Barron Nov. 11, 1807.

James Robins was Warden of St. George's Church in 1794, 1802; William Robins in 1807.

Colaragui 15 Aug 1784.

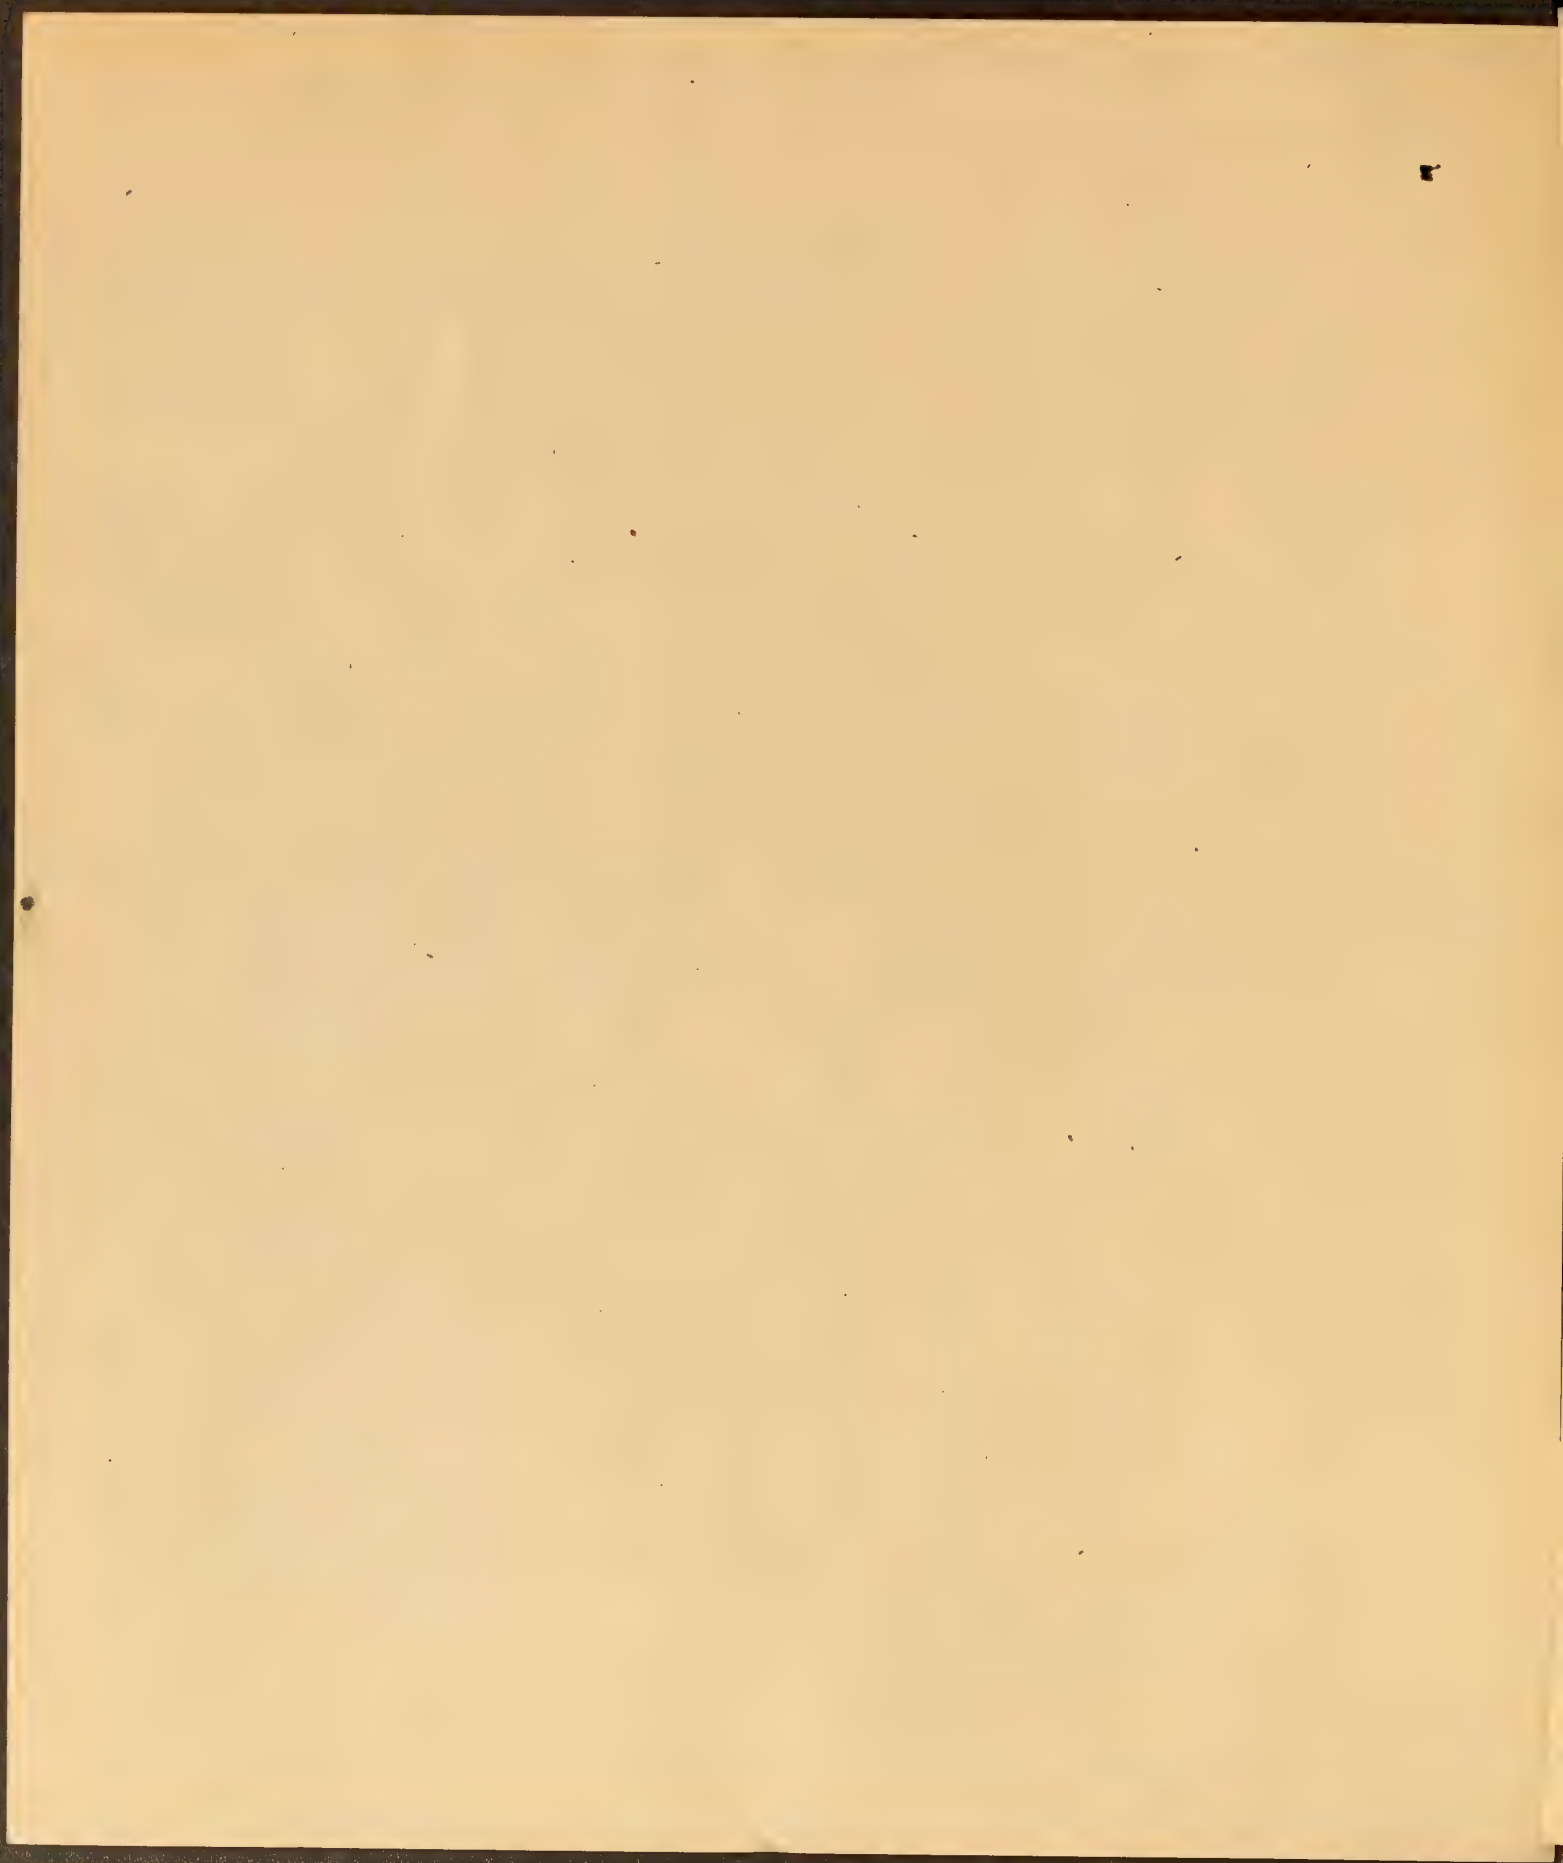

Sir

Being reduced by the late unfortunate war, with a large family makes appeal.

Joined the King's Army under Gen. Burgoyne in the year 1777 and was appointed Captain in Lt. Col. Jessup's Corps, and raised and mustered a company of men, and unfortunately on a scout with Maj. Jessup was taken prisoner on 28 Sept 1777, and detained in close confinement, and on bail, so that it was not in my power to join the corps again until 18 Sept. 1781, when I arrived in Quebec.

Never received pay for that time since capture. Paid $100 to save himself from immediate death at the hands of Rebel Indians. Sacrificed everything for government.

James Robins

Enlisted a number of men for service and joined Gen. Burgoyne's Army with them in 1777 and was appointed Captain in Lt. Col. Jersey's Corps, he mustered at different periods between 40 - 50 men in the Company under his command.

Suffered considerable loss. Soon after joining, being on a scout with Major Jersep was unfortunately taken prisoner 28th Sept by the rebel Indians. After being severely punished by them, and was ransomed from them to save him from immediate death, which ransom your petitioner was obliged to pay during his captivity by the assistance of his friends, with other debts he was obliged to contract, for his and his family's support, to the amount of near £150 sterling.

When in prison expected to be exchanged. At last all hopes of that vanished. After 8 months close imprisonment he was obliged to seek for bail to obtain his liberty. Was then sent prisoner to Esopus for 2 months. After leaving Esopus solicited an exchange from Canada and New York by all opportunities possible but disappointed. Tried to get leave from his bail to escape. At last obtained his consent, but having no guide to Canada did endeavour to get to the King's Army in that province but in the attempt was made prisoner a considerable time at Poughkeepsie. At last did make his escape to New York.
